MORE

“The world in Chasing Fae is quite unique and will appeal to fans of epic fantasy,” said author Cady Hammer. “The heroine, Grace, is really going to resonate with readers. She is a stubborn, driven woman who will stop at nothing to avenge her brother’s death. But she also has a fragile, emotional side. I hope Grace will be a very relatable protagonist.”

The novel is set in three distinct realms. The Upper Realm includes twelve Fae noble houses, each with their own cultures and magical qualities. The Middle Realm is a dystopian mortal society from which the protagonist hails. The Lower Realm is a forbidden space to both mortals and Fae and a land of demons wrapped up in secrets.

Synopsis:

When Grace's older brother, Leo goes into service in the Fae's world as a mercenary, she expects him to return with the honor that he deserves. But when Leo dies in an unspecified accident, not a word, medal, or penny comes down from the Upper Realm. Suspecting foul play, Grace disguises herself as a Fae and sneaks into the Upper Realm to get some answers. The first day into her quest, a Fae soldier catches Grace fleeing an angry bar and discovers her identity. Grace is now forced to drag this soldier along as she tries to work out exactly how and why her brother died. Along the way, she has to confront her prejudices against the Fae and sort out the difference between the honest and the dishonest. Political conspiracies, demon realm escapades, and family secrets will all lead Grace to the answers she's looking for... and some that she isn't.

Cady Hammer realized early on she wanted to write. "I read Andrew Clements, The School Story when I was ten. And I just knew – I wanted to be an author," said Hammer. "That year I wrote my first book."

"It was a novella sized-piece that will remain in my archives, but it was pretty solid writing for a fifth-grader," Hammer mused.

"I arrived for my first semester of college at William & Mary, and two months later, I wrote the entire first draft of Chasing Fae. I wanted to complete my first book in November for National Novel Writing Month."

The young author commented, "My hope is that, in Chasing Fae, you will be captivated by the strong protagonist and the fantastic, immersive universe."

Chasing Fae is a sweeping epic YA fantasy novel and the first of a planned trilogy. The work will appeal to fans of Sarah J. Maas, Victoria Aveyard, Cassandra Clare and Kiera Cass.

The novel serves up political intrigue with a side of budding romance. Readers will root for the fierce introverted leader who takes life into her own hands and will be captivated by her journey. Chasing Fae will be released by New Degree Press on August 3rd and will be distributed by Amazon, IngramSpark and Kobo. Copies will be available online at Amazon, IngramSpark, and Kobo.
